

Case T-125/89
(Summary publication)

Filtrona Española SA
v
Commission of the European Communities

(Competition — Admissibility — Period allowed for commencing proceedings)

Summary of the Judgment

Procedure — Period allowed for commencing proceedings — Calculation
(Rules of Procedure, Arts 80(1) and 81(1))

The provisions governing the way in which periods of time prescribed for the taking of a procedural step are calculated are generally applicable and do not depend on the type of proceedings commenced or on the length of the period of time allowed for commencing the proceedings.

Where the period of time allowed for commencing proceedings is expressed in calendar months, that period expires at the end of the day which, in the month indicated by the time-limit, bears the same number as the day from which time was set running, that is to say, in the case of a decision which has been notified, the day of notification (see the judgment in Case 152/85 Misset v Council [1987] ECR 223).
